

REASONS FOR ENGLISH COLONIZATION IN AMERICA

Why North America?

The British Route to Jamestown...

- What do you notice about this map?
- Why do you think they chose the route that they did?
- Do you think there were any natural influences on the route that was taken? Why or why not?

Reasons for English Colonization in America

- England wanted to start an American colony to increase their wealth and power so that they could compete with other European countries like Spain and France.
- They were hoping to be able to find silver and gold in America. (This would help increase their wealth!)

- An American settlement would give England raw materials (like wood and metal) they didn't have in England. This would allow them to increase their trading with other places.

Permission to Land...

- King James I, the King of England granted charters (written permission) to the Virginia Company of London.
- These Charters had three main rules:
 - Gave the Virginia Company of London permission to start a settlement in North America
 - Granted English rights to the settlers
 - Defined the physical boundaries of the colony (where the colony could be established.)

An Economic Venture...

Turn to page 7 to describe the founding of Jamestown!

- Jamestown was primarily an economic venture
 - An economic venture is a way to make money (that's its main purpose!)
- The stockholders, people who put their own money into the Virginia Company of London, paid for the settlement of Jamestown.

- In 1607, Jamestown was founded and became the first permanent English settlement in North America!
